Paddy Meyers of Louisville, Frank Burgoyne, S. Alpers, R. R. Frost, King Willett, Joe Crawford, Ed. Whittington and Ernie White returned yesterday morning after a week's outing in a fishing camp at Brush Creek. They brought about a hundred pounds of fish, and to hear the boys talk they left very few of the finny tribe in the Ohio river for the other fellow to catch. They tell some wonderful stories of haps and mishaps; but then great allowance is to be made for fish and snake yarns, and this is the time of year for both.

A DRAW

To Be Settled at Some Future Time By Different Judges

For some time there has been a friendly rivalry between L. T. Anderson of Point au View Stock Farm fame and Wells Bros. of the county as to the relative merits of their respective stallions, and in order to decide which of the two owners possessed the best horse, a $200 purse was the prize to be awarded the winning horse in a contest to be decided by fair-minded and disinterested Judges.

The matter was up for decision yesterday, and notwithstanding the big political attraction, a goodly number wended their way yesterday afternoon to the Trotting Track in East Forest avenue to witness the contest between the two noted thoroughbreds.

Wells Bros. selected Mr. Wat Deering of Flemingsburg for one of the Judges, and Mr. Anderson chose Mat S. Cohen of Lexington as the other.

After going the gaits in the argument, the two Judges were unable to come together as to which was entitled to the money—Deering favored Wells Bros. and Cohen Anderson; and neither could they agree on a third person, so they declared it a draw, and the matter is to be settled at some future time by different Judges.

In an interview by a Ledger representative, Mr. Cohen was asked his opinion as between the two horses, and he replied as follows:

"Why, there is no comparison. Mr. Anderson's horse is a stallion of much finish, perfect saddle horse conformation, and goes the best trot I ever saw a fair-gaited horse go.

"Mr. Wells' horse beat Mr. Anderson's at flat-footed walk, while at stepping, pace, rack, trot and canter, the Anderson horse made him look cheap."

Mr. Cohen so expressed himself, and Mr. Deering is yet to be heard from.

So the matter stands for the present.

The Licking River Lumber Company has sold its mills, lumber, etc., at Farmers, Rowan county, to the R. D. Page Lumber Company, of South Bend, Ind., at $150,000. The mills are located on the Licking river and is one of the best equipped lumber plants in the state.

WHAT Are Towels For? Absorption and Friction Is Absorption? Capillary Attraction.

The water runs up the loose fibres of the cotton in the nubs of the RUBDRY and is instantly absorbed. You do not use a piece of hard finished writing paper to take up a blot of ink, you use a blotting paper; and why? Because it is made up of loose, hairy fibres which draw the ink up. That is capillary attraction.

The Nubs in the RUBDRY give the Friction. The RUBDRY is the product of American brains and Egyptian cotton.

Opening of the Republican Campaign.

Willson, Cox and Bruner Address Large Audience at the Opera-House

The Men From Maysville Make Pleasing Speeches & Everybody Happy

Mr. Willson a Charming and Rational Talker. All Impressed With His Honesty of Purpose

Senator Cox's and Ben L. Bruner's Addresses Help Sound the Key-note. Pitiable Political Condition of Old Kentucky Thrown on the Canvas

They are off in a bunch!

The opening gun in the Kentucky Republican campaign of 1907 was fired yesterday in Maysville, the birthplace of the heads of the state ticket, Hon. Augustus E. Willson and Hon. William H. Cox, candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

The crowd present was not near as large as expected, but the opening was an unqualified gratification to every Republican present and to all who have the future welfare of the grand old state of Kentucky first in their political affections.

Mr. Willson arrived with the large delegations from Covington and Newport on a special train just before noon, and was met at the C. and O. Station by a committee headed by candidate W. H. Cox.

The distinguished next Governor of Kentucky was entertained at dinner by Mr. Cox, and at a few minutes before 2 o'clock he appeared in the Opera-house.

Mr. Willson's arrival was greeted with hearty applause, and when he took his seat upon the stage with Mr. Cox, Dr. Bruner and a hundred other prominent Republican leaders from every section of Kentucky, with both Smittie's Band and the Augusta musical organization, the 1,200 persons in the Opera-house yelled for several minutes.

Whether the opening of the Republican campaign was a success or a failure, depends upon the point of political view—which is generally a little biased or prejudiced.

Barring the attendance, the opening was all that could be desired or expected.

The ultimate success of either party depends wholly upon the conduct and the developments of the campaign during the next ten weeks.

That there is an unrest and an intense dissatisfaction with the present deplorable state of affairs in Kentucky there can be no question.

Kentucky today is sick unto death with the load she is carrying upon her delicate and aristocratic stomach, and, begging your pardon for the unhomey expression, she must "throw up" or send for the undertaker.

THE PUBLIC LEDGER would be delighted to produce, verbatim, the speech of Mr. Willson; but it would fill six columns, brevity solid, if we were to publish his most interesting address.

Chairman W. D. Cochran, in a few brief remarks, presented Hon. W. H. Cox to the audience.

Mr. Cox does not pose as a public speaker, but his 12-minute talk prior to the introduction of the boss "Man From Maysville," the Hon. Augustus E. Willson, developed the fact that he knew well the lamentable story of the present woe of Old Kentucky and is prepared to tell the people how the grand old state is being sacrificed that the Democratic machine may enjoy at least four more years of a general good time.

Mr. Willson is a most pleasing speaker, and for the hour and a quarter that he addressed his audience he dwelt upon the happy days of his boyhood spent in Maysville, his birthplace, in 1846. His parents came to Maysville from Vermont, and were of that sturdy Puritan-pioneer stock marking the thriftiest citizenship of the country. Mr. Willson is a graduate of Harvard and practiced law with his now aged friend, Justice John M. Harlan, of the U. S. Supreme Court.

"Numerous persons elect to speak of this meeting as the 'great opening gun of the campaign,'" he said. "It is the opening meeting, but I shall make no set or prepared speech."

"I am going to make a talk to my home people. I have not made a set speech since I made my maiden speech. I then wrote out manuscript aggregating some 40 pages and read the whole thing to a Charleston (Ind.) audience. Some sat through it all and some didn't, but I made my speech, but have not made another one like it since."

"It is like a home-coming for me to return to Maysville for my opening speech of the campaign, for here is my birthplace and the residence of many of my relatives. I return to them much as the barefooted boy, although there is nothing of the prodigal son element in the situation.

"I feel that Kentucky has stood among her sister states as a poorly ruled community, although the Democratic leaders declare that it is the best governed in the country. We advocate the spreading of political favors and deprecate the custom of keeping all the offices within a certain small circle. This is what prevails today, and everybody who is familiar with state politics knows numerous instances of it."

"All the real leaders have had to seek other fields because things were made so unpleasant for them at home."

On the subject of good roads he said:

"Plain as the nose on a man's face is not strong enough to express the supreme necessity for good roads. Common sense, every day and hourly experience, natural instincts, all speak for good roads. A wild animal in the wilderness tries to find the easiest way; a child going along the road to school hunts the smooth and level path, avoids the mud, the holes, the stumps and the stones. The kind of road or path you have counts on every step of man, or beast, or machine, whether one goes along his own farm or to the farm of his neighbor, or to the town, the railway station, the courthouse, store or Church; every step of the way, walking, riding or driving, counts in effort, muscle, breath, worry, weariness, money, wear and tear of horses, harness, vehicles, machines," &c.

There was not a word of personal abuse in his speech, his keynote being for a new Kentucky and for the honest and progressive administration of state affairs.

He appealed to the Democrats to investigate the real conditions of the Beckham-Hargis-Hager-Haley combine and its disgraceful orgie of drunken politics, its fraudulent office-holders and unheard-of system of Democratic Juries and "Special Judges." He declared that the people who could endure the present conditions were capable of swallowing a polecat without turning sick at the stomach.

He deplored the fact that "Democratic sentiment was all that prevented Kentucky from having a different administration—one that would place her in her proper place among the great states of the American Union."

He declared that he was an American citizen first and a loyal Kentuckian all the time.

He closed with an appeal for a better friendship and understanding between the parties and among the people, and that, win or lose, the tide is surely turning for a political change; and in the best of humor asked the Democrats to make the election of Willson and Cox "unanimous on the 5th day of November."

Mr. Willson announced his position on the temperance question by stating that he was strictly in line with the Republican platform, which declared for the county unit law and for the enforcement of every anti-whisky law on the statute books.

He further said that if the saloons would not obey the law that he favored wiping them off the earth. But that he was opposed to the "immediate elimination of the liquor interests of the state," because it would involve the loss of many millions of dollars to what are now legitimate enterprises, operating under legal customs and strictly according to Federal and state laws.

Following Mr. Willson, Hon. Ben L. Bruner, nominee for Secretary of State, was introduced and spoke for half an hour.

Mr. Bruner is a young man of fine appearance and has a sledge-hammer delivery that carries conviction to many hearers. He spoke most effectively and produced the figures to show that Beckham is making a "holy show" of the affairs of Kentucky and that he has squandered close on to $200,000 of the public funds for "Special Judges" alone.

And what have these "Special Judges" accomplished for Kentucky?

Only ridicule and scorn from every man who loves a square deal and honors Justice.

Mr. Bruner is the young lion of the Republican campaign and his gentle roar is going to have its effect upon every Kentuckian who will listen to reason and wishes to see his state lifted out of the mass of rottenness in which Goebelism, Beckhamism, Hagerism, Hargisism and Haleyism has placed her.

IN 3 DAYS BY CUTICURA

"In December 1905 I had a blood-red spot about as large as a nickel come on my left shin about three inches above the ankle and in about two weeks the same kind of a spot came on the right shin. I did not know but it was poison from some black stockings but my wife said it could not be for she had washed them thoroughly twice. The spots spread until they were some two inches across. Then my shins and under my ankles-bones commenced to break out in a fine rash which extended about half way to my knees. The burning and itching were something terrible and later the rash began to exude a watery matter. Finally it went to my elbows and above and below them. I doctored with two doctors but it did no good. I kept my ankles bandaged for over a year. One day a friend of mine said he believed the Cuticura Remedies would help me. I sent for them and in three days after using the Cuticura Remedies there was a complete change. The skin cleared up smooth and the itching stopped. I am still using the Cuticura Remedies for once a week or so, some little spot will break out in a fine rash and commence to itch. But washing with Cuticura Soap and putting on Cuticura Ointment drives it all away. I am seventy-one years old to-day. Geo. N. Westcott, Postmaster, Ceylon, N. Y., Apr. 29, 1907."

I had been troubled with too frequent action of the kidney secretions and it disturbed my rest nights. Having my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills I procured them and noticed an improvement in my condition from the start. My trouble was soon entirely cured. This was some five years ago, and I have had no return of it since. Anyone suffering from difficulties arising from disordered kidneys can make no mistake by using Doan's Kidney Pills."
